

Buddha's birthday

In May each year, Buddha's birthday is celebrated all over the world.

1. What do you know about Buddhism? Can you answer the questions?

- How old is Buddhism?
- How many Buddhists are there in the world today?
- In which countries do most Buddhists live?
- Why is Buddhism not considered a religion?
- How did Buddhism originate?
- What does the word 'Buddha' mean?
- What is karma?
- What is nirvana?

2. Read the information below and on worksheet B to find the answers to the questions in 1.

Buddhism

- Buddhism originated in India around 500BC.
- There are about 500 million Buddhists in the world today.
- Buddhism is practised mostly in eastern Asian countries such as Thailand, Tibet, India, Japan and Korea.
- Buddhism is technically not a religion because there is no god – it is a system of philosophy.

How it began

Buddhism was originated by Siddhartha Gautama, an Indian prince, born around 560 BC. When Siddhartha was a young man, he left the palace for the first time and was shocked by four things he saw: an old man, a sick man, a dead man and a holy man. He decided to leave his life of luxury in the palace to find an answer to why people suffer. After a few years, he found his answer and became a Buddha, meaning 'Enlightened One'. For the rest of his life he travelled around India on foot, teaching and helping others.

Karma and nirvana

There are three fundamental beliefs in Buddhism:

- When people die, they are reborn into another life time after time.
- People suffer because of their desires. Desires cause greed, anger, hatred and other negative feelings. These feelings create a force called karma.
- If people can eliminate these feelings, the force of karma disappears. When this happens, the individual escapes from the cycle of birth, death and rebirth. This freedom is called nirvana. Every Buddhist aims to reach nirvana, even if it takes a thousand lifetimes.

The eight-fold path

Buddha taught that there was a path, or a way of living, that everybody should follow. This is the basis of Buddhism today.

3. In pairs or small groups, discuss the following questions.

- a. Which of the ideas of Buddhism are similar to your religion, or the religions of your country? If you are Buddhist, can you explain more about it?
- b. Which ideas of the eight-fold path do you feel are the most important?
- c. How did your religion, or the religions of your country, originate?

Teacher's notes

Task

To find out about Buddhism by reading a text.

To discuss issues of Buddhism and relate this to the students' own religion or religions in his/her country.

Preparation

Make one copy of worksheets A and B for each student.

Procedure

- 1 Tell the students that Buddha's birthday is celebrated around the world on different dates in May, and in April in Japan and Korea. Elicit a few facts about Buddhism.
- 2 Give the students a copy of worksheet A and ask them to discuss the questions in (1) in pairs or small groups. Ask the students to report to the class their suggestions for answers to the questions.
- 3 Give the students a copy of worksheet B and ask them to read the text to find the answers to the questions, making notes of the answers. This can be done as a collective effort with the students working in pairs or small groups.
- 4 Check the answers with the whole class and ask further questions to check comprehension and to encourage more detailed reading. For example,
Where was Buddhism founded? What is every Buddhist's aim?
Alternatively, you could ask the students to ask each other questions, possibly dividing them into teams.
- 5 Then ask the students to discuss the questions in (3). The students report to the class anything interesting from their discussions.

Answers
